

Through the combination of music, dance/movement, drama, digital media and art, the Creative Arts Program supports the potential for positive developmental outcomes for all individuals, especially those diagnosed with autism, cognitive functioning issues and medical conditions.

The Creative Arts Program serves as a valuable force in helping individuals and families in therapeutic, rehabilitative, community or educational settings foster health, communication and expression.

Wesley Family Services bases autism treatment on the principles of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA). Because we value quality service and evidence-based practices, our staff utilize data-based decision making, and positive, proactive strategies in treatment. Our organization is committed to continuous improvement in the services we provide, and we strive to make therapy enjoyable for every individual and learner. We hold ourselves accountable for treatment outcomes, and we support our clients in becoming more independent, responsible and caring members of the community.

Creative Arts

How Creative Arts Therapy Can Help

Creative arts therapies can help individuals with a behavioral health diagnosis or developmental delay to increase functionality in a number of ways, including but not limited to improved emotional processing, self-regulation, and social skills. In the Creative Arts Program, our skilled and talented staff conduct private, group, and family sessions.

Some of the many services available include:

- Music Therapy
- Music Instruction
- Rocks Bands
- Drama Group
- Therapeutic Dance and Movement
- Therapeutic Art
- Paint With Wesley
- Creative Corner
- Transition Aged Services
- Contract Opportunities with outside school districts and organizations.

In addition to the other therapeutic benefits, our Creative Arts staff make learning fun and rewarding, especially when it can be adapted to the needs of any learner.

“The therapists are always positive, upbeat, and very flexible. They are willing to do whatever it takes to keep my child engaged, happy and having fun!”
