

MUSIC of the HEART

April 10, 2024

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Katie Harrill, and I am the Creative Arts program founder and supervisor at Wesley Family Services. I have over 25 years of dedicated experience as a board-certified music therapist (MT-BC), providing music therapy to individuals with disabilities. I am writing today on behalf of the Creative Arts program to encourage you to donate to this transformative program and join us for the upcoming 14th annual Music of the Heart recital. This incredible event is scheduled for June 2, 2024, at the Mary Pappert School of Music at Duquesne University.

The impact of the Creative Arts program and the Music of the Heart Recital on clients, their loved ones, and our collective community is unmistakable. I have had clients who could not speak when I started working with them stand proudly on stage and sing.

Awareness and acceptance of various disabilities have significantly increased over the last few decades, and now almost everyone either personally knows or knows of someone who is living with a disability: a sibling, neighbor, grandchild, coworker, or friend. Wesley's Creative Arts program helps individuals develop everyday skills, manage various emotional states, and experience creativity and self-expression, which will help set a strong foundation for the rest of their lives. That will make our community – the greater Pittsburgh area – a more vital, thriving place.

The Creative Arts program's mission is essential for clients, their families, and our society, and we would gratefully welcome any extra support. Your generous contribution will help cover the recital's costs, and any additional funds collected beyond the recital cost will go toward Creative Arts scholarships, which provide financial assistance to families who cannot afford this effective, evidence-based therapy.

You can support us by making a monetary donation or donating a raffle item for the recital day. I would greatly appreciate any donation, regardless of its size. As a token of our gratitude, we will mention your name or business in our event program and social media platforms. Donations of $100 and over will be acknowledged with an ad in our event program—the ad size varies based on the sponsorship tier.

Thank you for your support. If you have questions about the recital and the Creative Arts program or want to donate, please get in touch with me at (412) 706-2596 or refer to the attached form. We would be delighted to have you as our guest at this year's recital.

Sincerely,

Katie Harrill, MT-BC

Our family can't say enough great things about the creative arts/music therapy program at Wesley Family Services. This is the most extended amount of time my 5 ½-year-old daughter with autism, ADHD, and anxiety has ever stuck with an activity. She LOVES going and seeing her therapists and friends. She spent her first 4 years in foster care before being adopted, and music regulates her and her big emotions. She has participated in both individual and group therapy. The therapists know what to do when she is having a rough day and needs extra support and love. They teach her the coping skills to calm herself down and regulate herself that she has taken into the world with her when she needs them. We are fortunate to be able to pay for her sessions, but as part of many groups of moms, I know there are a lot of families and kiddos who would benefit from this therapy and can't afford it. It's also nice as a parent to know she can be in a session for 30 minutes, and I don't have to worry about her because I know what she is doing is regulating her, and she is happy while she is there!

Garrett is a 24-year-old with autism. He has been attending Wesley Family Services since he was six. He has loved music all his life he sang before he could talk. Garrett enjoys a wide variety of musical tastes. His favorites include The Beatles, Jimmy Buffett, Billy Joel, and classical music. Garrett learned to play the piano by ear. Before he could read the music. The therapists at WFS helped him blossom by teaching him how to play piano, read music, and sing. His love for music took off to another level. The therapists helped with his behavior as well. We watched his confidence and excitement for music grow. He looks forward to playing the piano every week and playing in a rock band every other week. WFS has helped Garrett blossom musically beyond our imagination. They inspired him to discover the incredible gift he possesses for music!

Since December 2022, Robyn has enthusiastically participated in the Music Therapy program offered by Wesley Family Services Creative Arts Program. She eagerly looks forward to her Thursday evenings immersed in music therapy at the Monroeville location. Music has always held a special place in Robyn's heart. She takes immense pleasure in listening to a wide range of music and singing. Her love for music is evident in her enthusiasm and the joy she exudes when engaged in these activities.

WFS's Music Therapy program has given Robyn an opportunity to experiment with various instruments, enhancing her understanding of music and its different elements. Miranda is a remarkable individual whose journey through numerous medical challenges has been courageous. Miranda was diagnosed early with a rare chromosome disorder, a partial trisomy of the 3P chromosome. She later was diagnosed with autism. Born with torticollis, Miranda faced the additional hurdles of plagiocephaly, requiring her to wear a helmet from six months old until her first birthday. Furthermore, she bravely underwent surgery to address a right-sided aortic arch, followed by ongoing struggles with a narrow airway, necessitating multiple balloon dilations to improve her breathing. Despite these formidable obstacles, Miranda's resilience shines through, and music therapy is a way for her to find her voice. Miranda has discovered a profound source of solace and empowerment through music therapy. Despite being non-verbal and autistic, she has found her voice within the melodies, rhythms, and harmonies that permeate her sessions. Through the transformative power of music therapy, Miranda has not only embraced a means of expression but has also unearthed a pathway to connection and communication that transcends her diagnoses. Her journey serves as a testament to the remarkable impact of music as a therapeutic medium, illuminating the path toward self-discovery, growth, and boundless possibilities.

Charlie was diagnosed with autism at 19 months. He is now 24. He started with Wesley in a group when he was 10. Since that time, he has participated in both group and one-on-one music therapy with the Creative Arts Program. Charlie likes to sing and has some favorite songs, Here Comes the Sun, How Sweet It Is To Be Loved by You, and Brown Eyed Girl, to name a few. He enjoys playing drums to songs he likes. He spends time playing songs from various genres of music. He likes singing songs into the microphone. Recently, he has been learning the guitar using Chord Buddy so that he can play chords along to the songs he likes. Charlie and his therapist have been playing some musical games.

He has been working on new and more challenging songs on the piano and adding in singing while he plays. His therapist encourages picking new songs each week to add to his favorite songs. Changing things up helps with his ability to be flexible. Charlie has always valued his time at Wesley. We are beyond grateful for two exceptionally caring, devoted, and musical women who have given more significant meaning and enjoyment to his life. It is wonderful that he has been able to take part both as a child growing up and now as a man in his 20s. This continuity matters and has enriched his life beyond measure.
